Genova

Genova, 'la Superba,' is a city that makes a profound impression. Sandwiched between the sea and the Ligurian hills, Genova spreads upwards from the port, a jumble of a city with a long and chequered history. The European Capital of Culture in 2004, Genova has dozens of museums and galleries, a renowned theatre, and the largest aquarium in Europe. The city has good shopping, the best nightlife in Liguria and excellent restaurants. Day excursions along the stunning Ligurian coast are highly recommended.

THE CITY

Genova: the birthplace of Christopher Columbus and Paganini, Italy's biggest port and, as Charles Dickens remarked in 1844, "A city of the strangest contrasts." Renaissance palaces, grand 19th-century boulevards and gilded Baroque churches are squeezed alongside, and on top of, a warren of steep medieval streets. Fine restaurants and chic bars are hidden in the dark, narrow alleys. Genova is made for exploring and getting lost in the medieval quarter – one of Europe's largest – and is all part of the experience. With one of the biggest universities in Italy, Genova's student population guarantees a buzzing nightlife.

Camogli

Camogli is a very pretty fishing village with brightly-painted houses around 20 km east of Genova. Take a boat from Genova (www.liguriaviamare.it), or take the train (www.trenitalia.it) from Stazione Principe. From Camogli take a boat (www.golfoparadiso.it) to the beautiful 10th century Fruttuoso monastery.

EATING

Genova and Liguria are famous for pesto, the delicious pasta sauce made from basil, pine nuts, olive oil and parmesan. If you think you know pesto because you buy it in a jar – think again. There is nothing that compares to a dish of fresh vivid-green pesto served with the local pasta, little twists of troffie or spaghetti-like trenette. Other specialities include farinata, a bread-like snack made from chickpeas, foccacia, fish dishes, (particularly salt cod -baccalà) mushroom dishes and stuffed meat dishes. Plan to eat out in Genova. Many restaurants are closed on Sunday and Saturday lunchtime.

La Buca Di San Matteo

This is a small, very elegant restaurant serving Ligurian and Tuscan specialties. They have excellent service and delicious food.

Address: Vico Chiossone 5

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Photo: Michela Simoncini

Genova has a lively nightlife, much of it thanks to the 40,000 students who attend the city's university. During the week, bars, wine bars and pubs are popular – many of these are pretty small, and people hop from one to another as the evening progresses. Those bars that are dedicated to the evening/night open at 18.00 for aperitivo time, and stay open until around 01.00. On the weekend, closing time is extended to 02.00, and many bars will have a DJ set on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Discotheques tend to be found outside of the city centre, on the coast.

Trattoria da Franca

Trattoria da Franca is an unpretentious bar with a great atmosphere. Drink, eat and enjoy the music here.

SHOPPING

There is some good shopping in Genova, from designer goods and shoes, through high-street fashion and cheap fakes. On Via XX Settembre, a long, wide boulevard right in the centre of the city, you'll find high-quality chain stores, designer stores – and some good shoe stores. Rinascente, the well-known Italian department store is located in Via Vernazza, which runs parallel to Via XX Settembre. You'll also find the Mercato Orientale a great food market, selling all kinds of fruit, vegetable, fish, meat, cheese and bread. Unlike many stores, it's open Monday morning.

Nearby is Via Roma, which is also good for designer fashion. Running parallel is the 19th century glass and metal Galleria Mazzini, with small fashion and accessory stores and cafés. For more affordable shopping try heading to Maddalena, a maze of tiny streets. In this part of Genova's historic centre, you'll find a huge range of small stores, selling clothing, jewellery, shoes and accessories food stores and bakeries. Via San Luca is good for contemporary high-street Italian fashion and if you looking for a designer outlet and bargains, head to Via Caffa.

ESSENTIAL INFORMATION

Airport

International airport of Genova Sestri, Cristoforo Colombo, is located about 6 km from the center of Genova. The airport shuttle bus runs every 30 minutes to the railway station and the journey takes around 30 minutes. Buy a ticket on board which is valid for the day on all city buses. The bus tickets are also valid on subway, elevators and on the metropolitan trains.

Internet: www.aeroportodigenova.com

Public transport

Walking is the only form of transport possible in the historic centre of Genova – the streets are too narrow for cars. The bus system is extensive and is valid for 90 minutes. You can buy your tickets at newsstands (chiosco).

Genova has a new subway system, indicated by a red M. Currently with seven stops. Automatic ticket machines in all the stations, valid for 90 minutes or the whole day.

In addition to the funicular, Genova also has elevators for locals who live uphill. There are a number of these around the city, and the standard AMT tickets are valid.

Internet: www.amt.genova.it

Taxi

Official taxis have a white and yellow badge on their doors. To phone a taxi call 5966.

Post Office

The central post office is located at Via Dante 4, near Piazza De Ferrari.

If you need to buy stamps, you will find them at a tabacchi – a tobacco store, recognisable by the sign with a large T.
